HIS PLAN ADOPTED.

President Mitchell's Will Was That of The Convention in Everything.

Indianapolis, July 19.—The convention of united mine workers completed its work and adjourned this afternoon. The report of the special committee which recommended the adoption of the recommendations of President Mitchell, was unanimously adopted including the issuing of an address to the American people.

At 11:55 the special committee was prepared to report. Its recommendations were as follows:

First—That the national secretary-treasurer of the united mine workers be authorized to appropriate $50,000 from the funds of the national treasury.

Mr. M. C. Forbes and family have gone to Crittenden Springs.

DWELLING DAMAGED.

Large Hole Burned in Roof Over Cook Room.

The dwelling, on what is known as the Jesse Carter place, near Caledonia, and occupied by Mr. James Ward, caught on fire Sunday and the roof was pretty badly damaged. The fire originated from a defective flue. A hole ten feet square was burned over the cook room.

Rev. J. A. Bennett and family left yesterday for their new home at Pewee Valley, where Rev. Bennett has been called to the charge of the Baptist church at that place. We regret exceedingly to lose them. Our best wishes, however, go with them into their new home.—Fairview Review.

Aunt Lyddie Bell, aged 82, and James Whitehead, aged 32, were married at Trenton, Tenn.

REV. THOS. RODMAN,

Who Is Now in Waukesha, Wisconsin,

Defends The Reputation of His Deceased Father, Dr. Jas. Rodman, Waukesha, Wis., July 23.

EDITOR KENTUCKIAN:

In the issue of the New Era of the 18th inst., in "a card" signed by Dr. W. W. Ray, the following language is used:

"The lamented Dr. Rodman told me, a short time before his death, that this was one of the most difficult problems that a superintendent had to deal with. I am informed that it is a part of the history of this institution that a number of births have occurred here from time to time under similar circumstances."

It seems to me that but one inference can be drawn from these words and the inference is unqualifiedly false. No such case ever occurred under Dr. Rodman's administration. Children have been born there to female patients, but they were legitimate offsprings and were received and cared for by their fathers as such. These facts can be easily substantiated by such men as S. E. Trice, S. G. Buckner and Dr. B. F. Eager who as President and member of Board and Assistant Physician and as the warm personal friends of Dr. Rodman have been thoroughly familiar with every detail of the Asylum for many years. THOMAS RODMAN.

COLORED INSTITUTE.

Debate This Evening The Feature of the Meeting.

The Colored Teachers' Institute for Christian county is in session at the court house and will last for 5 days. Nearly all of the 88 teachers are in attendance. Prof. F. L. Williams, of Covington, is conductor. The feature of the session will be a debate tonight on the question: "The Third Class Certificate should be Abolished." W. Robinson and T. H. Hunter affirm and G. Henderson and E. Brame deny.

BAD RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Prominent Farmer Thrown From His Buggy.

Mr. G. W. Lindley was thrown from his buggy yesterday morning, on the Fairview pike, and dangerously injured. His horse was frightened by a wheelman coming up behind the buggy. Mr. Lindley was thrown on a pile of stones and a bad gash was made on his face. It is believed that he received internal injuries of a most dangerous character.

W. H. JERNIGAN.

Pembroke Suffers an Irreparable Loss by Death.

A Young Business Man Who Was Always in the Front in Public Improvements.

Pembroke has lost her leading business man and Christian county has at the same time lost one of her best citizens.

Mr. W. H. Jernigan died of typhoid fever yesterday morning, after his life had for several days been hanging in the balance.

Mr. Jernigan was 36 years of age and had for several years been engaged in merchandising at Pembroke. He early developed great business capacity and succeeded from the start. He built up a large and profitable business and soon took the lead in all the progressive steps that have made Pembroke one of the best little towns in Kentucky.

About two years ago he was married to Miss Ida McCauley, of this city, and much sympathy is felt here for his bereaved wife.

Mr. Jernigan was a member of the Methodist church and his funeral services will be held this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Pembroke Methodist church. Rev. C. R. Crowe will be assisted by Presiding Elder W. C. Brandon.

The interment will follow at Rosedale cemetery.

GOOD MAN GONE

In the Death of Mr. James J. Stuart.

In the death of Mr. James J. Stuart, a few days ago, the Pembroke neighborhood has lost a most estimable citizen. He had been in failing health for several months. He was in the 71st year of his age and was born on the homestead where he died.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Lunica Stuart, aged 92 years, a wife and four children, Mrs. Howard Boxley, of Bell Station; Mrs. Barrett, McComb, of Pembroke, and Nellie and John Robert Stuart. He was married twice, Mrs. Boxley being a daughter by his first marriage.

Mr. Stuart was a member of the Baptist church. His body was buried in Rosedale cemetery, at Pembroke.

Died in Asylum.

"Bug" Woods died in the Western Asylum one day last week. His home was in Bowling Green and he had been in the asylum about 25 years. He leaves a family.

Mrs. Wm. B. Kendall, of Terrell, Texas, came Tuesday for a visit of several weeks to her father, Mr. R. F. Rives.

T. M. JONES,

MAIN STREET.

HOPKINSVILLE, KY.

RUNS REVERSED.

L. & N. Crew Now Spends Night at Gracey.

An important change has been made in the movement of trains on Clarksville and Gracey division of the L. & N.

The runs have been reversed and a new schedule went into effect Sunday.

The train leaves Gracey at 6:30 a. m., daily, except Sunday, and arrives in Clarksville at 9. m. Returning this train leaves Clarksville at 3:55 p. m. and arrives at Gracey at 7 p. m.

The crew spends the night in Gracey instead of Clarksville.

Connection is made at Clarksville for Memphis and at Gracey for Cadiz.

NEW BUSINESS HOUSE.

Dr. Brandon Having Fine Structure Erected in Lafayette.

Dr. F. Brandon, of Lafayette, is having a fine store house erected in that place and the building will be ready for occupancy in about thirty days.

The new building is being erected where his old store was situated—next to the Phippen hotel lot, and, when completed, will be the finest structure of the kind in the place. Roper Brothers are the contractors.

The house will be occupied by Dr. Brandon and son, who will move from their present quarters, the Cooper building, as soon as the new store is completed.

Mr. Jesse R. Reeves is now at Newport, Ky., where he has a position with the Western Union. Mrs. Reeves and children left for Newport last week.

THREE OF A FAMILY

Depart This Life Within Space of Three Weeks.

Mrs. Sudie Carman, formerly Mrs. Henry Beazley, of Lafayette, died at Clifton Springs, Tenn., on the 20th inst of stomach trouble.

She was 32 years old and a native of Arkansas. Her maiden name was Jeffries. She had been at the springs for two months, but was not thought to be dangerously ill until a few days before her death.

Since her marriage to Mr. Carman she had been living in Paducah.

She was a member the Methodist church and besides a husband and three children she leaves a host of friends to mourn her loss.

Her two little daughters by her first husband are living with their grandmother, Mrs. S. A. Beazley, at Lafayette.

Mrs. Carman's mother died in Texas June 26, and her sister, Mrs. Amanda Hester, died in Memphis about the same time—the three having departed this life within three weeks.

RESIGNED PASTORATE

Of Three Churches to Accept Charge at Jackson.

Rev. A. C. Dorris, of Lafayette, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Jackson, Ky., and he left with his family for the latter place last week.

Rev. Dorris had been living in Lafayette for about twelve years and had charge of Shady Grove and Locust Grove churches in Trigg county and the Baptist church at Big Rock, Tenn.

Farm For Sale.

I will sell at the court house door in Hopkinsville, on Monday, Aug. 4, at 11 o'clock a. m., at public outcry, two tracts of land near Hargis' bridge, on the Palmyra pike, 5 miles from Hopkinsville, aggregating 205 acres.

One tract contains 135 acres, with dwelling, barn and other out-houses and is well watered with good ponds and never-failing springs.

The other tract contains 70 acres and is half a mile from first named tract, also on the free turnpike, nearer town. The farms are in a fine neighborhood, convenient to churches and schools.

Terms one third cash, balance to suit the purchaser.

DR. W. M. HILL,
Hopkinsville, Ky.

THE GREATEST OF ALL TRIPS

To Old Point Comfort and the Sea Shore, Aug. 19th.

This popular excursion in charge of Mr. W. A. Wilgus, S. P. A., will be run Tuesday, Aug. 19th, on regular trains connecting with Seashore Special, leaving Union Depot, foot of Seventh street, Louisville, Ky., at 1:30 p. m. The round trip rate to Old Point Comfort is only $16.00 and tickets are good until September 9th.

This trip surpasses any offered the traveling public. Grand and beautiful scenery, invigorating mountain air, surf-bathing, ocean voyage, palatial hotel entertainment and a visit to the National Capital and Library.

Delightful side trips at low rates. Every attention and courtesy will be extended to ladies without escorts. Stop-overs allowed east of Kanawha Falls returning.

Story of a Birth Certificate

By Benjamin H. Ridgely.
(U. S. Consul at Geneva.)

(Copyrighted by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

THE HON. PHILIP HOWARD, bachelor, 30 consul of the United States of America at G—, never knew exactly how he succeeded in securing his appointment, but he did know that in applying for it, he had vaguely imagined that he was to have nothing to do except to draw his meager salary and amuse himself. Now, after six months at his post, he had made three important discoveries: First, that there was a great deal of serious work to do; second, that he, being ignorant of the language, was absolutely incompetent to do it; and third, that he was hopelessly in love with Mlle. Marcelle du Pont, the young lady whom he had engaged to teach him French. Marcelle du Pont was a sweet, gentle girl of 20, with a face as fair as an Andalusian day, and a voice that breathed music. After the third lesson she saw the love-light in Philip's eye.

"Mademoiselle," Philip said, abruptly, "what is French for heart?"

"Coeur, Monsieur," she replied.

"Bien," rejoined Philip, "and how would you say 'with my whole heart'?"

"De tout mon coeur, Monsieur," Marcelle answered, demurely.

"And how would you say: 'I love you'?"

"Je vous aime, Monsieur."

"Good," cried Philip; then looking

A HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

Full of it I wish when reading some historical romance.

"I'd lived a hundred years ago, and had the happy chance of courtesying to dainty maids, or tripping to and fro, and leading with some one I loved an Old Virginia reel."

"I feel that I've been cheated of a quite idyllic life."

"Of meeting those who steered the Nation safe through storm and strife."

"Of having lived with Jefferson, the Nineteenth century's morn."

When trousers buckled at the knee and powdered wigs were worn.

Prosper seems the life to-day, too much imbued by self, and mad, unyielding push for proud position, place and pelf.

"I like to dream myself as one with Madison, Monroe."

John Randolph, Adams, and the rest, the peers of long ago.

"I feel myself dissatisfied with living in an age."

Where wealth doth all but honor buy, and all but grieve and grieve.

"Would I had lived where minute-men King George's rule had shorn."

When trousers buckled at the knee and powdered wigs were worn.

But, since I come to think of it, I fear I could not hold.

And pour hot tallow round a wick within a candle-mould.

A muzzle-loading, flint-lock gun would scarce my standard reach.

"I'm so used to those that take a cartridge in the breech!"

"I'm sure I'd miss the telephone and telegraph, and far."

Above these I'd miss the fast express, and trolley car.

Men must have lived a hackneyed life, and tread a path forlorn.

When trousers buckled at the knee and powdered wigs were worn.

THE HON. PHILIP HOWARD, bachelor, 30 consul of the United States of America at G—, never knew exactly how he succeeded in securing his appointment, but he did know that in applying for it, he had vaguely imagined that he was to have nothing to do except to draw his meager salary and amuse himself. Now, after six months at his post, he had made three important discoveries: First, that there was a great deal of serious work to do; second, that he, being ignorant of the language, was absolutely incompetent to do it; and third, that he was hopelessly in love with Mlle. Marcelle du Pont, the young lady whom he had engaged to teach him French. Marcelle du Pont was a sweet, gentle girl of 20, with a face as fair as an Andalusian day, and a voice that breathed music. After the third lesson she saw the love-light in Philip's eye.

"De tout mon coeur, Monsieur," Marcelle answered, demurely.

"And how would you say: 'I love you'?"

"Good," cried Philip; then looking

"YOU MUST LET THE LESSON GO TO-DAY."

her squarely in the face, he said: "Mademoiselle, je vous aime de tout mon coeur."

"Monsieur's accent is very bad," observed Marcelle, naively. "It is even worse than that of the American dentist."

But that was five months ago. Last night under the trees of the Jardin des Bastions she had said to him: "Oui, Philip, je t'aime," as only a French woman honestly in love could say it. Thus it was that Hon. Philip Howard, consul of the United States of America at G—, on a salary of $1,500 a year, found himself engaged to be married to the prettiest and one of the poorest girls in French Switzerland, for Marcelle du Pont, although she gave music lessons, did not even own a piano. And what was worse, there was to be a change of administration at Washington within six months and Philip's tenure of office was already a dissolving view. "It would be just like them to kick me out on my wedding day," he groaned; "d—n it, why haven't we got some money." And Philip, with a heavy heart, turned to his American mail which had just arrived. Among other letters he found the following:

San Francisco, Oct. 3, 189—

To the American Consul,

Dear Sir—The late William Markham, of this city, received some fifteen years ago from one of your predecessors, a communication in regard to the case of a child, Eva Cotttram, whom it appears was deserted by her mother at Nice in 1878 and who was subsequently taken to G— by the nurse to whom her mother had entrusted her. The grandfather of this girl has just died and left her the bulk of his estate amounting to about $200,000. If you can find any trace of her at G—, or elsewhere, we would be greatly obliged if you would communicate at once with the undersigned.

Yours very truly,
BLAND & JONES,
Attorneys at Law.

"Why didn't I find Eva Cotttram, American heiress, and fall in love with her instead of Marcelle du Pont, French teacher of music and languages?" grumbled Philip. Then he went to his bookcase and took down the great record-book bearing on the outside page this descriptive title:

"Record of Births—Deaths—Marriages and Other Happenings of Personal Interest in the Consular District of G—. From 1876 to 189—"

As he was looking through the index, the door of the consulate opened and Mlle. du Pont entered.

"It is time for your lesson, Monsieur," she said, with a certain gentle reserve which she always maintained with Philip when acting in her capacity as his French teacher, even in spite of their engagement.

"You must let the lesson go to-day and help me with something else," said Philip; "here, read this," and he handed her the letter he had just received, which Marcelle read with undisguised interest.

"It is a chance to make some money if you find her is it not, Philip?" she cried, enthusiastically. "Certainly she would be generous if you should put such a great fortune in her hands."

"I hope so," said Philip. "I think I might legally ask at least three per cent.; that would be $6,000, 30,000 francs."

Marcelle clapped her hands joyously.

"We need certainly fear nothing with 30,000 francs in the bank," she cried.

"No," said Philip, "but we haven't discovered the girl's whereabouts yet, and I doubt if we ever shall."

Meanwhile he had turned to page 106 of the big record book. Here we found the following entry:

COTTRAM—June 13, 1878: Eva Cotttram, 2 years of age, born at Lucerne of American parents as attested by her birth certificate, was this day brought to this Consulate by one Marie Barbier of No. 3, Rue des Grottes, G—, who states that she was formerly employed as "governess" at the Hotel des Annes, Nice; that on the 23 day of March, 1878, there came to the Hotel, Robert Cotttram and Emily Cotttram, his wife, and that they had with them their infant child, Eva; that they engaged her, she said Marie Barbier, as governess, and that she immediately entered into their service; that on the 6th day of April, Mr. and Mrs. Cotttram left the hotel saying they were going to Monte Carlo, that instead, they went to Paris, and from there wrote to her sending five hundred francs and begging her to keep their child until they came for it. They gave no explanation of their strange conduct and in May, 1878, Marie Barbier saw an account of a railway wreck at Dijon, in France, and learned that among the killed were Mr. and Mrs. Cotttram. It is presumed that they were on their way back to Nice to get their child.

(Signed.) BENJAMIN HEMMICK, Consul.

A second entry was as follows:

August 3, 1878—Since making the above entry, I have communicated with William Makham at San Francisco, father of Mrs. Robert Cotttram, telling him of the presence of his grandchild here and asking him what disposition he desired should be made of the little one. He answered me curtly stating that his daughter had eloped with a blackguard and that he would assume no responsibility for the fruit of such a marriage. Mademoiselle Marie Barbier agrees to keep the child upon condition that she may adopt it as her own, to which I have consented, and she now has it in her possession. She is an honorable and industrious woman with some savings of her own, and a respectable home at No. 3 Rue des Grottes.

(Signed.) BENJAMIN HEMMICK, Consul.

"It is a very sad story," said Philip, softly, as he finished reading the record aloud to Marcelle. "I hope I shall be able to find the poor girl; you must help me Marcelle; we must look at once for Marie Barbier, the governess."

"I happen to know Mlle. Marie Barbier very well," said Marcelle, quietly.

"What," cried Philip, "do you mean it?"

"Undoubtedly, Monsieur," said Marcelle; "but she is no longer Marie Barbier; her name now is Marie Barbier du Pont. I have just left her and she, too, had received a letter from San Francisco. She asked me to bring a paper and show you. Have the kindness to examine it, if you please."

"What is this," cried Philip, excitedly, as he hastily scanned the document which Marcelle had handed him.

"It is a birth certificate, Monsieur le Consul," answered Marcelle, "my own birth certificate. I am the adopted daughter of Marie Barbier du Pont, and as Philip read from the paper the name "Eva Cotttram," she buried her head upon his shoulder and burst into tears.

SHOPPING IN CHINA.

The Purchaser Carries a Pair of Scales with Him and Keeps the Dealer Honest.

In China liquids are sold by weight and grain by measure. John buys soup by the pound and cloth by the foot. A Chinaman never puts his name outside of his shop, but paints instead a motto, or a list of his goods, on his vertical signboard. Some reassuring remark is frequently added, such as "One word hall." "A child two feet high would not be cheated."

Every single article has to be bargained for, and it is usual for the customer to take his own measure and scales with him. A strongman has difficulty in carrying on his back 100 worth of copper cash which is the common currency, so it is necessary to take a servant to carry one's purse. The sycee of silver is the only other form of money besides the copper tael. As it weighs about 67 ounces a hammer and cold chisel are indispensable for making changes.

When you engage a servant or make a bargain it is not considered binding until "the fastening coin" has been paid. Although his bad faith is notorious in some matters, yet, to do him justice, when once this coin has been paid by you the Chinaman, coolie or shopman, will generally stick to his bargain even if the result to him be loss.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition,
hearing will be destroyed forever;
nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

BRASHER THE MAN.

Within four days the Democrats of the Second district will by their votes select a nominee for Congress.
There are 25,000 voters in the eight counties entitled to cast their ballots and there is of course a doubt about what the result will be; but the candidates all agree that Jno.
B. Brasher will be in the finish.
He was handicapped in the out-start by a severe spell of illness, but since resuming the canvass he has given the district an illustration of his capacity as a hustler and his ability as an organizer.

Although the KENTUCKIAN has made no warfare upon the honorable gentlemen opposing him, it does not hesitate to assert that the interests of Christian county will be best subserved by the nomination of Mr. Brasher. He is from our own end of the district and is the only candidate who has pledged himself in advance to work for a public building in Hopkinsville and secure it before he attempts to get one for his own or any other town.
We lost a public building last year because Henderson had a better
"pull" than Hopkinsville with Congressman Allen. If the Democrats of Christian county and of Hopkinsville especially desire to benefit the best town in Kentucky let them vote for the man who is committed to this proposition.

Aside from this strong public reason, there are many reasons personal to Mr. Brasher why our people should support him in this contest.

As the leader of the Democratic party in Hopkins county for six years, he has helped at least three of our citizens to office and has for twenty years shown his warm friendship for his native county in many ways.

Measured by standards of party service, of business success, of leadership, of patriotism or morality, he is the peer of his honorable opponents and if elected his friends may feel assured that he will make a good congressman. He will be attentive to his duties, intelligent in their discharge, always at his post, with no personal habits calculated to interfere with his usefulness as a representative.

Vote for Brasher and you will make no mistake. To do this stamp under the device below, in the circle.

LEGAL OBSTACLES TO A PRI-MARY.

There are several serious obstacles to the calling of a State primary election to nominate a Democratic ticket next year that the advocates of such a departure from established party usages have not stopped to consider. These may be summed up as follows:

1.—With no convention, the party would enter the race without a platform of principles.

2.—The expenses of a primary would change democracy into a plutocracy and make it impossible for a poor man to aspire to a state office.

3.—In the event only one candidate aspired to an office, under the usual district rules the nomination would fall upon the State Committee and the party would be forced to meet the charge of ring rule.

4.—The committee would be without legal power to assess candidates, and confusion and great dissatisfaction would surely follow any attempt to do so without lawful authority.

5.—The Executive Committee has no authority under the party law to order a state primary, and an attempt to do so would be a usurpation of power that would disrupt the party.

The first three have been discussed more or less freely for several months and are conceded to be difficulties not easily met and overcome.

The expense of a primary has been demonstrated by actual experience so often in county elections that no one who is conversant with the law or its practical application at the polls will estimate the expense of a state primary at less than $500 to the county. It cost Webster county $500 in 1901 to nominate eight officers. It cost Hopkins county $550 and Union county about the same. It is costing $250 to the county to nominate one candidate in the eight counties of the Second congressional district, paying officers only half price and borrowing booths and boxes, and nearly every county is asking for more. It will cost Daviess county $650 to nominate a judge and commonwealth's attorney. If a legalized primary should be held in 119 counties it would cost not a cent less than $50,000. With this enormous sum to provide, the State Committee would be without lawful authority to raise it except by voluntary contributions.

Section 121 of the Election Laws
says:

"All expenses for holding such primary elections shall be borne and paid by the political party holding same, and the pay of officers, cost of publishing and circulating notices of elections and all other expenses, shall be defrayed in such manner as may be provided for by the committee or governing authority of the political party holding such primaries."

This is the law on the subject and there is nothing in it to authorize a committee to tax candidates any more than there is to levy a franchise tax on corporations. The arbitrary and unlawful taxation of candidates for office by a party's governing authority, and the extortion of money from them as a condition of their running for office, would be a species of despotism
that would drive out of a party every man who believes that our forefathers were right when they went to war with England in resistance to unjust taxation.

The Democratic party cannot afford to drive poor but aspiring young men away from it and serve notice that none but rich men can seek office in its ranks. The candidate who was unwilling to be held up would have redress in the courts and could flatly refuse to buy a permit to run and could enjoin the party committee from leaving his name off the ballot. Does any man assert that the injunction would not hold good in law? Then let him show in the Statutes where there exists any authority to tax candidates for the privilege of being voted for by their fellow-citizens.

Even in regular elections the candidate does not have to pay for that privilege. In cases where candidates voluntarily agree to defray the expenses of a primary, the committee can, of course, accept contributions from them for the purpose, but unless the aspirants agree to assess themselves it devolves upon the "political party" to raise the necessary funds. The committee may ask for contributions from candidates or others, but it has no authority to enforce collections or to deprive any man
the right to run for office.

And now let us turn to the consideration of the fifth and last proposition.

Under the party law the powers
of the State Executive Committee
are limited to the calling of "conventions," while district and county committees may go further and "determine the time and manner of nominating candidates." Here is the present law defining the powers
of the State Executive Committee,
which has been in force since 1896:

"The State Executive Committee shall have power to determine when and where CONVENTIONS to nominate candidates for State offices, and all other State CONVENTIONS shall be held and the time and manner of selecting delegates thereto, and the basis of representation shall be prepared and announced by said committee, and shall in all cases be the vote cast at the last presidential election."

That is all. This is emphasized by this conclusion to the report on party rules:

"This revision of party laws shall take effect from this date, and is the entire party law in force, and the State Central Committee is hereby empowered to pass such rules not inconsistent herewith as will carry out this order of organization."

The State Committee has no more authority to order a primary election to nominate State officers, or to raise $50,000, or even $50, by a tax on candidates, than it has to meet and declare a suspension of the writ of habeas corpus or to sell franchises to run railroads in Kentucky.

There is absolutely no power vested in either the State Executive or State Central Committee to change the party law limiting the powers of its governing authority to the calling of conventions only and they with bases of representation fixed in advance. No State primary can be authoritatively called under any circumstances and all talk of such a method of nominating candidates for State offices in Kentucky may as well be stopped.

OUR NEIGHBOR, HOPKINS.

The relations between Christian and Hopkins counties have always been very close. It is very seldom that one has ever failed to support the other's candidate.
There is a long list of favors shown by Hopkins to the candidates of Christian. Some of these we can recall, as follows:

Hunter Wood, supported for commonwealth's attorney;

Sam M. Gaines, supported for clerk of the court of appeals.

Austin Peay, supported and elected to the senate.

James A. McKenzie, supported for congress in three races.

Dr. John D. Clardy, supported for governor.

Same, supported for congress in two races.

W. R. Howell, supported for state senator.

R. C. Crenshaw, supported and
elected to the senate.

M. D. Brown, supported for lieutenant governor.

Geo. V. Green, supported for prison commissioner.

Here are more than a dozen instances where Christian county candidates have been earnestly assisted and many of them elected by the Democrats of their neighboring county.

Christian county can do no less than show her appreciation by giving a solid support to John Brasher next Saturday. A dozen good turns deserve at least one in payment.

State College of Kentucky.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State College) College of Kentucky offers the following courses of study, viz:
Agricultural, Horticultural, Chemical, Biological, Mathematical, Physical, Entomological, Physiological, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering and Mining Engineering, each of which extends over four years and leads to a degree. Post-graduate courses of study are also provided, leading each to master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty numbers more than forty professors and instructors.

County Appointees receive tuition, room rent in dormitories, fuel and lights, and if they remain ten months, traveling expenses.

The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped, comprehensive and modern.

The last and the preceding Legislatures appropriated $60,- 000 for a college home for young women and $30,000 for drill hall and gymnasium for men.

Military tactics and science are fully provided for and required by Congress.

Graduated from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remunerations. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of college to supply.

SHORT COURTSHIP.

Clarksville Belle Succumbs to Cupid and Weds After an Acquaintance of Four Days.

Clarksville, Tenn., July 25.—A romance was disclosed to-day when it became known that Miss Louise Whitfield, a reigning belle, was secretly married Wednesday evening to Thomas Eugene Saunders, after an acquaintance of only four days.

Mr. Saunders was called here a little over a week ago by the illness of his mother, Mrs. Annie Saunders, who is summering here with her mother-in-law and daughter, Actor Tim Murphy and his wife, at the home of Mayor and Mrs. T. H. Marable. Last Saturday evening Mr. Saunders was introduced to Miss Whitfield and capitulated at once to her charms. The courtship made rapid progress and on Wednesday Mr. Saunders learning that he would be obliged to go to Mississippi on business for his mother, who has a large estate there, pleaded that the marriage take place before his departure. Miss Whitfield consented and in less than an hour had become Mrs. T. E. Saunders.

Mr. Saunders will return Saturday from Tunica, Miss., and he and his bride will leave for an Eastern trip on Monday. Mr. Saunders is business manager for Tim Murphy. Miss Whitfield is the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Whitfield, who are a prominent family here.

A Cure For Summer Complaint.

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of every family. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may not be within easy access of physician. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summer-time.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by C. K. WYLY.

Y. M. C. A. TENT

Will Keep Open House at the State Encampment.

At the request of the State military authorities, the State Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association of Kentucky will have an Association tent at the State Guard Encampment, at Mammoth Cave, July 30 to August 18. As at former encampments, the tent will be equipped with magazines and other periodicals, newspapers, writing material, games, etc., and many other features for the enjoyment and benefit of the new during their leisure hours. These privileges, which are placed by the State Committee at the disposal of the members of the Kentucky State Guard, are very largely used. Last year the average daily attendance at the tent was 538. Two thousand five hundred and thirty-four letters were written and mailed. The Association work at the Annual Encampment has been greatly appreciated by the officers and men, and is one of the agencies which the State Committee employs to extend the helpful influences of the Young Men's Christian Association to the young men of the entire State.

Mr. W. W. Brockman, one of the Secretaries of the State Committee, will be in charge of the Association tent this year, and will be assisted by Mr. C. L. Bragaw, of Louisville.

The Best Liniment For Strains.

Mr. F. H. Wells, the merchant at Deer Park, Long Island, N. Y., says: "I always recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm as the best liniment for strains. I used it last winter for a severe lameness in the side, resulting from a strain, and was greatly pleased with the quick relief and cure it effected." For sale by C. K. WYLY.

Mr. Geo. B. Croft has exchanged his farm of 200 acres on the Clarksville pike for the Withers place on Seventh street and $5,000 cash, making the exchange with Judge W. T. Fowler and his father, D. E. Fowler. Mr. D. E. Fowler will live on the farm, moving from Macedonia.

UP TO DAVIESS COUNTY.

In the opinion of the Owensboro Messenger, Urey Woodson's paper, Judge Taylor will be strongly backed by his home county. The following editorial indicates that Daviess county is taking a lively interest in the outcome of the contest:

The editor of the Messenger recently sent over the Second congressional district more than 150 letters of inquiry, addressed to some prominent Democrat at every voting precinct in the district, with a view to ascertaining, as near as possible, the strength in each county and precinct of the three candidates for the Democratic nomination for congress. As far as possible the names of Democratic precinct committeemen were used. These letters were mailed to these gentlemen without any knowledge whatever of their personal preferences, and merely asked for their candid judgment in the matter. A very large number of replies have been received, and after going over them carefully, it is very plain that, if the Democrats of Daviess county will organize closely and get out the full vote, Penn Taylor can and will win the nomination.

The Messenger has not taken a very active part in the canvass now going on in the district. It has esteemed all the gentlemen aspiring to the congressional nomination as good Democrats, and each of them thoroughly worthy of honors. There has been no marked issue between the candidates for newspaper discussion. They are all Democrats of the same kind, and would all, no doubt, vote alike on party questions coming before congress. They would all strive diligently to serve their constituents with credit, we are sure.

Unfortunately, however, there has come up from time to time during the canvass a very bitter controversy between two of the candidates, Stanley and Brasher. We have deplored this, and urged these gentlemen to desist. For a time it appeared they would do so, but we are advised that on last Saturday, at Dixon, the controversy was renewed with greater bitterness than ever before, and ended in no little excitement and bad feeling between the respective friends of these gentlemen. As time goes by it is quite apparent that it would be a serious party mistake to nominate either of them. The Democratic party ought to nominate a candidate who can poll the full strength of the party, and we do not feel that, after this canvass, either Stanley or Brasher could do so.

Judge Taylor, however, has held himself entirely aloof from such entanglements, and has conducted himself with proper dignity and conservatism. He has made no bitter attack, or criticism of any kind, upon either of his opponents. He is making the race upon his own merits and not upon the demerits, real or imaginary, of either Stanley or Brasher. He has inspired the respect of all men who have met him in the race. If nominated, the party can be assured of the full party vote for the nominee. Surely it has been proven that the nomination of Penn Taylor is the logic of the situation.

On the 2nd of August the primary election will be held, and we say again, with all confidence, in view of the information we now have at hand, that his success or failure in this contest lies with the Democrats of Daviess county, who are almost unanimous for Taylor. If they will organize in every precinct and School district, and see that every Democratic vote is brought out on the 2nd of August, Taylor will surely be the congressman.

All is Rosy.

About 200 of Judge Taylor's friends met in the city Monday evening by appointment to compare notes and to make arrangements for organization in order to get out the vote in the primary election August 2.

Several rousing speeches were made. The speakers being Capt. W. T. Ellis, T. S. Pettit, LaVega Clements, W. H. Clarke, H. G. Overstreet, C. M. Crowe, A. C. Tompkins, R. L. Watkins and others. Every man pledged himself to do all that he could for a full vote at the primary.

The most glowing accounts of the situation in the county were brought in. Judge Taylor all along has said that he would get 4,000 votes in the county, but the

ENDORSED BY THE MINISTRY!

HON. J. N. B. BRASHER.

To the voters of the Second Congressional District:

We, the undersigned preachers of the Gospel, and composing the pastors of the various churches of Madisonville, the home of Hon. John B. Brasher, candidate for Congress, take great pleasure in introducing and recommending him to the voters of said district, as a sober, honorable, straightforward Christian gentleman, and one who

No cry of charity ever fell on his ear unheeded. He is a wide-awake, reliable business man, and if elected to Congress, will serve the people faithfully and well. Any favors shown him along this line will be greatly appreciated by us and by his host of friends in Hopkins county.

Given under our hands at Madisonville, Ky., this May 3rd, 1902.

men who were at the meeting said that the vote would be as large as it was in the last primary, when 5,300 votes were cast, and that Taylor would get practically all of them.—Inquirer.

JUDGE NUNN

Can Clear a Docket Quicker Than Any Other Circuit Judge.

Judge Thomas J. Nunn, whose nomination by the Democrats of the First appellate district for judge of the court of appeals, is as good as an election, is 56 years of age, having been born in Crittenden county. He worked on a farm and studied law, and in 1870 was admitted to the Marion bar. He was elected county judge and served one term. In 1893 he removed to Madisonville, Hopkins county, and built up a big law practice. In 1897 the Democrats of that judicial district nominated him for circuit judge, and he defeated Judge Clifton J. Pratt, the Republican nominee. He has served on the bench ever since, and is regarded as one of the ablest jurists in Western Kentucky.

Judge Nunn has a reputation of being able to do more legal work and clear a docket quicker than any other circuit judge in Kentucky. He is a man of strong mental and physical power and possesses a kind and genial personality. He has a wife and five children, two of whom are sons, C. S. and John Nunn. Both are prominent young lawyers of Marion.

DUNBAR'S CAVE.

Col. J. F. Shelton's Conditional Offer to Build a Railroad.

Clarksville, Tenn., July 25.—A movement has been started by a number of local capitalists to gain possession of the Dunbar Cave, and Col. J. F. Shelton says if the company will construct a hotel and make the contemplated improvements he will build an electric line to that point. He is elated over the prospect of having the place improved and believes it can be made one of the most popular summer resorts in the South.

MR. BRASHER

Has a Fine Crowd and Makes a Splendid Impression at Corydon.

The Corydon Journal contains the following in reference to the Brasher rally at Corydon Monday night:

The big Brasher rally on Monday night, was a hummer and no mistake. The attendance was the largest seen in the opera house in many a day. Certainly there were twice as many as composed any Stanley crowd here this year. And the crowd was made up, largely, of the best and most representative ladies and gentlemen of the community. While there were some Republicans and a few Stanley people present, the larger portion of the audience was composed of enthusiastic friends of Brasher. It was an interested expectant throng. Mr. Brasher had never spoken here and there was curiosity as to how he would acquit himself on the platform. It had been understood, generally, that, while he was a good, plain, homely backwoodman, he was not a statesman or public speaker. His main rival in this race charged against him that he lacked ability. But the speech of Brasher was an eye opener and a pleasant surprise to his many friends. So far as "ability" is concerned, he convinced that magnificent audience that he possessed "ability" of a high order.

So far as oratory is concerned, the equal, if not the superior as an orator, of any man in this congressional race.

Though worn down by incessant labors, and so hoarse that he talked only with great difficulty, Mr. Brasher delivered a discourse that would have been a credit to any statesman of national reputation. It was in good form, in choice language, well connected, spiced with refined wit and humor, and with many oratorical flights that were perfect gems.

The speaker soon caught the attention of the multitude and won its sympathy, as was evidenced by the hearty applause given him at every point made.

At the close, the speaker was given an ovation by the great throng of enthusiastic listeners.

Rev. Mr. Smith, of Madisonville, made a short address at the beginning of the meeting, in which he told of the high esteem of Hopkins county people for Brasher.

The speaker was then formally introduced by Dr. Sigler.

The music, which was highly appreciated, was by the Madisonville band.

There were delegations of enthusiastic Brasher men from Robards, Cairo, Dixie, Uniontown and Henderson.

A large number of ladies graced the occasion with their presence, and showed plainly that their sympathies were with the Madisonville statesman.

It was one of the biggest events of the kind ever seen in Corydon, and the Brasher men are elated on the success of the meeting and at the bright prospects of their candidate.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and re-told by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by C. K. WYLY.

And Hon. F. A. Hopkins Was Nominated in the Tenth District for Congress.

West Liberty, Ky., July 24.—Hon. F. A. Hopkins, of Prestonburg, Floyd county, was nominated for Congress here to-day on the third ballot by the Democrats of the Tenth district. Hon. J. B. White, the present incumbent, withdrew just before the ballot was taken. He said that he saw he could not win and there was no use to prolong a hopeless fight.

Mr. Hopkins, the nominee, is a well known Democrat, whose home is at Prestonburg.

OFFICIAL CALL

For Congressional Primary Election August 2nd.

At a meeting of the Democratic district committee of the Second congressional district of Kentucky, held pursuant to a call of the chairman, in the city of Hopkinsville, May 10, 1902, the following call was issued:

It is hereby ordered that for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for congress in the Second district, a legalized primary election be held in all the counties and precincts of the district on Saturday, August 2nd, 1902. Said primary election shall be held under the provisions of Article XII, of the Kentucky election laws, between such hours and in such manner and form as regular State elections are held.

It is further ordered that no candidate shall be allowed to select as of the Democratic party, and each candidate is required to comply with all the requirements of this committee by 2 o'clock, p. m. July 1, 1902, or his name will not be printed on the official ballots for said primary election.

All Democrats of whatever shade of belief, regardless of any differences that may have heretofore existed, and such young voters as will have reached the age of twenty-one years by the Nov. election, who wish to affiliate with the Democratic party and will pledge themselves to support the nominee of the election, shall be entitled to vote in said election.

The candidate receiving the highest number of legal and qualified votes cast in said election, shall be declared the nominee of the Democratic party of the Second district for representative in Congress.

The committee will reassemble in the city of Henderson at 10 o'clock a. m. July 1, 1902, for the purpose of completing all necessary arrangements for holding the primary election hereby ordered.

D. W. Gatlin, Chas. M. Meacham, Secretary, Chairman.

BENJAMIN SWIFT.

Who He Is, What He Has Done and How He Has Done It.

It is no longer a secret that "Benjamin Swift" is merely a pen name of the author of "The Game of Love," about which, under the title of "Ludus Amor," so much is being written just now in England. The novelist's real name is William Romayne Paterson. He is young, a Scotchman, and has written about a half dozen novels. He has been charged with following too closely on the heels of Carlyle and Meredith, each in turn, but the English press seems to be unanimous that he has now shaken off his models and, in "The Game of Love," come to the front with a style of originality and power. This is according to prophecy, for "Benjamin Swift" has been the subject of much English discussion, and there are wise men who declare that he will one day be proclaimed great.

From the beginning Benjamin Swift has always made his stories striking. He has shown a tremendous originality, though somewhat eccentric and sometimes unpleasant in his earlier work. Out of these youthful extravagances he has, in the judgment of the current British press, now emerged.

Benjamin Swift was born in 1871. He was the son of a Scotch physician and was educated at Lausanne, Switzerland, and at Glasgow university.

At Glasgow he took the degree of master of arts with first-class philosophical honors. He is now a full-fledged professional novelist, with his home in London.

His first essay in fiction was "Nancy Noon," published in 1896, when the author was 25, and this has been followed by "The Tormentor" (1897), "The Destroyer" (1898), "Siren City" (1899), "Dartnell" (1899), "Nude Souls" (1900), "The Eternal Conflict" and an essay (1901). To these he has now added a new novel, "The Game of Love," which has just been published in this country by the Scribners. Its English title is "Ludus Amor."

A Butterfly Farm.

Near Scarborough, England, a farm exists for rearing moths and butterflies. Half an acre of land has been planted with trees and shrubs for the purpose. In their season the stock of caterpillars is 20,000. From 30,000 to 40,000 preserved insects are kept in reserve, so that butterflies and moths can be supplied irrespective of the time of year.

Justice Harlan of the Supreme Court Has Always Stood Up for the Rights of the People.

John M. Harlan, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, has come to be regarded as one of the bulwarks of American liberties. He was appointed to the bench in 1877 by President Hayes, but his attitude on many questions of the day has removed him from the category of partisanship. His decision in the Downes case, involving the constitutionality of plans in our island possessions, is the most recent and striking instance of Justice Harlan's construction of the law.

If a search were to be made of Justice Harlan's opinions during his long service on the supreme bench, the number of occasions upon which he has decided in favor of "the undercrust of society" would be found to be surprisingly large. It is recalled that in the case of the deserting sailors from the barkentine Arago he was alone in his dissenting opinion sustaining the appeal taken by the seamen, and in doing this he had made a very broad interpretation. These sailors had, under private contract, agreed to service for a certain term, but when their vessel reached Astoria they deserted. They were arrested and given over to the shipmaster, but on the way to San Francisco they refused to work, for which they were brought to trial in that city. Mr. Harlan sustained their appeal for relief from the decision of the California court on the ground that slavery existed wherever the law recognized a right of property in a human being. "A condition of enforced service," he said, "even for a limited period in a private business of another is a condition of involuntary servitude." He said in conclusion that it seemed to him that the court read the thirteenth amendment as containing a clause excepting seamen engaged to serve on private vessels.

MR. JUSTICE HARLAN.

JUDGE PENNYPACKER.

Republican Nominee for Governor of Pennsylvania is a Descendant of Royalty.

Samuel Whitaker Pennypacker, in the authorized biographies, is set forth as the direct descendant of a Holland-Dutch family, and it is said "He also traces descent from John of Gaunt and Edward III. of England."

His relation to Senator Quay does not appear in the record. While they are cousins, it is said that it is not in the first degree. Mr. Pennypacker is the son of a Philadelphia physician; he served in the Twenty-fifth regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers in the civil war, studied law and practiced at the bar. He has served upon the bench, compiled a series of court reports, and is known as a collector and lover of books. His library contains about 7,000 volumes of early Pennsylvania, 200 of which came from the pen of Benjamin Franklin. Judge Pennypacker has heretofore not been active in politics, but when he did appear, he was identified with the reform republican element in Philadelphia as opposed to the machine and the regular Quay organization. His name was presented to the convention by Hampton L. Carson, for many years the foremost orator of the reform republicans.

Frightened by Frankfurters.
A letter carrier in Washington, D. C., had just opened a letter box when he started back in affright, screaming: "A snake! a snake!" A policeman came to his aid, and after repeatedly prodding with his club in the box, lifted out a string of sausages which had been reposing on the top of a collection of letters.

Rooster Injures a Child.
A little daughter of William Blankenship, Hopkinsville, Ky., was attacked by a rooster and so badly injured that it is thought she will die. The bird sank its spurs in the top of the child's head, penetrating the brain.

BILIOUS

People dread the periodic attack of nausea and racking headache which results from derangement of the stomach and sluggish action of the liver.

To cure the bilious condition the stomach and liver must be put into a healthy condition, and this result is accomplished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures indigestion and other diseases of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. It makes the torpid liver active. It cures biliousness by curing the causes which produce it. It purifies the blood from the poisonous substances which clog and corrupt it and which breed and feed disease. Acting directly on the blood-making glands it increases their activity and so increases the supply of pure rich blood, upon which physical health depends.

"I suffered from indigestion, torpid liver and biliousness, and took many different kinds of medicine without receiving any benefit," writes Mr. P. J. Gerregano, of Cleveland, Miss. "In May, 1900, I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, and he recommended his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I have taken about four bottles and am cured of my troublesome disease. At times in hot weather I had fever, and every morning had a bad taste in my mouth, and all through the summer season I was unable to work at all. Now I can work, and, I believe, do as much as any one. Feel that I am under great obligation to you and your wonderful medicine, and cannot say too much for either."

Persons who suffer from disease in chronic form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of stomach, liver and blood.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of the "Discovery."

Don't Wait Until Fall TO BEGIN TO BUILD.

It takes a month or more to get the plan question settled, and the best houses can not be built in a hurry. A house built in the winter is seldom satisfactory, and a fall beginning means a winter ending. Furthermore, prices on all materials are generally higher in the fall. Then too, most people wait till then to build, and work brings a higher price when there is a great deal of it. Hence you have everything to gain and nothing to lose by building in the Spring and Summer.
